

Tesore, Guardian of the Sea Creatures

Documentary Feature Film

The threats to marine life on the coast of Uruguay are numerous. Aside from precarious means and hardly any assistance, Richard Tesore, a peculiar and passionate middle-aged man who rescues stranded marine animals, is faced with the dire predicament of having to close down his rehabilitation operation. The local government authorities, backed by private interests, are demanding Richard leave the land where his NGO has operated for over 20 years. Where can Richard go with the many injured sea lions, endangered turtles and lost penguins that are under his care?
